Power Lines: How the Navajo Nation’s Energy Built the Sunbelt

Andrew Needham

Andrew Needham is an Associate Professor of History at New York University, specializing in recent United States history, with teaching and research emphases in environmental, American Indian, and urban and suburban history as well as the history of the American West. His publications include Power Lines: Phoenix and the Making of the Modern Southwest, Princeton: Princeton University Press, 2014.

For more information contact Jennifer Michals at jennifer.michals@northwestern.edu.

Find out more: www.cnair.northwestern.edu